

Atrichornis 0013

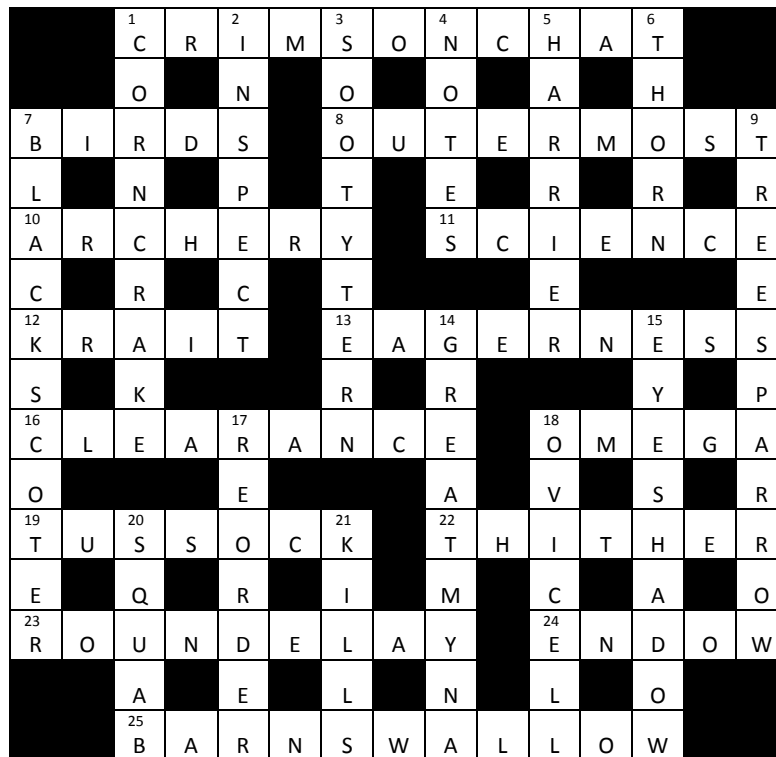

Across

- 1 Are reported sightings of this bird just bloody talk? (7,4)
- 7 These delightful creatures occur in dribs (5)
- 8 Some tutor reckoned that these were key tail feathers for bird IDs (9)
- 10 Does he carry the materials for this flighty pastime? Take a bow if you get it (7)
- 11 Since church letters came into ornithology for example (7)
- 12 An Indian snake starts killing robins, and ibis too (5)
- 13 Driving keen birders, sense gear change (9)
- 16 Ran clean race to get a prerequisite for flying (9)
- 18 An awesome gallinule brought about the end for the Greeks! (5)
- 19 Where a Night Parrot might be stuck so badly (7)
- 22 A vague direction – but with it her bird spotting has it covered (7)
- 23 Trouble our end, start to breed, find a merry old song (9)
- 24 A good way to donate to BirdLife Australia and bring about endless wonder (5)
- 25 Successfully identified this bird – all was brown blur! (4,7)

Down

- 1 This waterbird may be no cracker but it is good to see one (9)
- 2 Look at quiet intrusion into bird's prey (7)
- 3 This seabird eats fish although it is not oyster-crazy (5,4)
- 4 They may be written or sung in the field (5)
- 5 It's a circus bird! (7)
- 6 Bill shape that's sometimes paired with a rose (5)
- 7 A sea duck found using a dark Lambretta, nothing less! (5,6)
- 9 Pre-set or raw processing would lead to images of this bird (4,7)
- 14 This Asian starling sounds quite contradictory (5,4)
- 15 Make-up that has ruined many a bird photograph (9)
- 17 Arrange new stock – it happens sometimes in taxonomy too (7)
- 18 A primitive brood patch – perhaps I'll voice the clue differently without me (7)
- 20 A pigeon with good taste? (5)
- 21 Manoeuvring skill always associated with raptors (5)

Atrichornis 0013

Across

- 1 Are reported sightings of this bird just bloody talk? (7,4)
- 7 These delightful creatures occur in dribs (5)
- 8 Some tutor reckoned that these were key tail feathers for bird IDs (9)
- 10 Does he carry the materials for this flighty pastime? Take a bow if you get it (7)
- 11 Since church letters came into ornithology for example (7)
- 12 An Indian snake starts killing robins, and ibis too (5)
- 13 Driving keen birders, sense gear change (9)
- 16 Ran clean race to get a prerequisite for flying (9)
- 18 An awesome gallinule brought about the end for the Greeks! (5)
- 19 Where a Night Parrot might be stuck so badly (7)
- 22 A vague direction – but with it her bird spotting has it covered (7)
- 23 Trouble our end, start to breed, find a merry old song (9)
- 24 A good way to donate to BirdLife Australia and bring about endless wonder (5)
- 25 Successfully identified this bird – all was brown blur! (4,7)

Down

- 1 This waterbird may be no cracker but it is good to see one (9)
- 2 Look at quiet intrusion into bird's prey (7)
- 3 This seabird eats fish although it is not oyster-crazy (5,4)
- 4 They may be written or sung in the field (5)
- 5 It's a circus bird! (7)
- 6 Bill shape that's sometimes paired with a rose (5)
- 7 A sea duck found using a dark Lambretta, nothing less! (5,6)
- 9 Pre-set or raw processing would lead to images of this bird (4,7)
- 14 This Asian starling sounds quite contradictory (5,4)
- 15 Make-up that has ruined many a bird photograph (9)
- 17 Arrange new stock – it happens sometimes in taxonomy too (7)
- 18 A primitive brood patch – perhaps I'll voice the clue differently without me (7)
- 20 A pigeon with good taste? (5)
- 21 Manoeuvring skill always associated with raptors (5)